XICS del XURRAC

... The construction of incredible human towers, called Castells, is a rooted and popular tradition in Catalonia...

TOMBS CREATIUS have created their own colla castellera (human towers building group)... "Xics del Xurrac" is the first human towers building group born in a carpenter's workshop.

We need an audience like you to join our group, who feels like being the protagonist and the life of our human towers builders. An audience to share our principles: courage, sense, balance, strength...

Our group is made of wood and you will find it at your town or city square. You are invited to play and become one of ours "xurracs".

Do you make up your mind to play and build human towers?

See you at the square!
